Thread represents illegal electricity lines.

Lines of thread almost give a cage-like image.
Almost like the people in the favelas are trapped/imprisoned.

The idea of prison links to idea of illegal use of energy.

Thread ties it all together—
the favelas look like one gigantic body.

Are they trapped there because of identity/background?

Born into it?